

CLEVELAND GOLF STAR GETS DEATH THREATS

Today

THE GHOSTS MAY WONDER
CALIFORNIA FOR GARNER.
RUSSIA TURNS JINGO.
MR. ECKER'S ADVERTISING.

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Syndicate, Inc.)

SHANGHAI sends word that China and Japan had ended the war out there with an armistice at 10 o'clock this morning. American,
British, French and Italian representatives signed the peace documents. Japanese soldiers will be withdrawn.

The ghosts of thousands of Chinese women, children and civilians,
and of Chinese and Japanese soldiers will wonder, perhaps, why it was necessary to kill them.

SPEAKER GARNER seems to have won the California primaries, defeating Governor
Roosevelt and former Governor
Smith.

Mr. Garner was President
you would see in the White House one who knows about simple living. When he was a boy in Texas, the bright evenings
were those following the slaughter of an ox. While the fat lasted the family had good
candles, by which you would
read if you held your book
close. When there was no more steer fat the light available was bad and reading was painful.

NOT SATISFIED with the worries of her 10-year plan, Russia
talks about what she would do if war came. Blucher, eastern commander of the Red army, says Russia likes peace but is ready for a fight.

The "oath of fidelity" has been administered to the Russian soldiers as "an iron call to strength
and to fight."

TALKING to any European
government about war—now, is
like talking to a seacock passenger about pork in midocean,
but Russia's talk at present is intended for Japan.

The Japanese, very intelligent, probably will not be misled into imagining that they could do to modern Russia
what they did under the incompetent rule of the czars.

MR. FREDERICK ECKERS Metropolitan Life announces among its industrial policy holders the lowest death rate in all history. This undoubtedly is due largely to the fact that Mr. Ecker's company carries on through public advertising
a systematic health campaign, giving information for health protection in simple language, and warnings against dangers that increase
the death rate.

This campaign of health education protecting the Metropolitan company's policy holders and its own funds is admirable.

CAPONE, extraordinary product
of prohibition — bootlegging — his spirit not broken, handcuffed to
another criminal, struts to the train bound for Atlanta prison. He tells reporters, "I am through with the racket," but his mind will be on it
in prison. He will endeavor to control
his "mob" from his cell, relying
upon a few faithful to terrify others
into loyalty.

Charles V. it is said, continued
to manage his empire after he had resigned the throne and entered a monastery. But a monastery is not a federal penitentiary and gangsters lose respect for a leader who is "put away."

Garbo's Beau?

Denying reports that he had started the rumors of his engagement to Greta Garbo, Wilhelm Sorensen, young Swedish
author now studying in Berlin,

he didn't mind the publicity he received as it would no doubt

been reported engaged on many occasions, but apparently is still fancy free.

Prominent Toledo Engineer Dies
Trying to Save Life of Lima
Man Who Is Asphyxiated

LIMA, May 5.—A heroic rescue
attempt by Earl Roberts, 42, prominent Toledo engineer, led to his death here late yesterday, and the man he tried to save, Ernest Aron-
holt, 44, of Lima, died a few hours later. Both were victims of poisonous gas in a tank at the new Lima sewage disposal plant.

Aronholt, inspector for the city
engineering department, suffered a fractured skull when he was overcome and fell in the tank. Roberts,
chief designer for the H. P. Jones
Co., of Toledo, builders of the plant,
ran a quarter mile in answer to an employee's call for help, but collapsed and died as soon as he entered the gas-filled chamber.

He is survived by a widow and
one daughter.

charged the league with running
his business.

YEAR HIGHWAY
SLATE READY

Rebuilding of Unity-

Scheduled

ROAD FINISHED
DURING WAR TIME

Route 35, Salem to Han-overton, To Be Re-
surfaced

Lisbon, May 5.—After numerous
conferences with the state highway
department at Columbus, and the division highway engineer's office at New Philadelphia, County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk announced today that the five year road program for Columbiana county had been worked out and is now in its final stage of completion.

This five year program includes
the rebuilding of the Cox highway
or State Route 14 from Unity west
to Salem.

Proves Inadequate Now

Kirk said today that state highway officials are conscious of the fact that this road was built under the stress of war times, but
express the opinion it has served
its purpose very well. However, it has been definitely determined that
this section of road is inadequate
both as to width and smoothness.
Some of the worst parts of the road are to be found in the vicinity
of Columbiana.

The five year program also includes the widening and resurfacing
of State Route No. 170 from East Palestine to Negley, also the resurfacing of State Route 154 from Elkton through to Signal and then to Rogers.

Another project decided upon is
the widening and resurfacing of State Route No. 35 from Salem
southward to Hanoverton and also the resurfacing of that section of State Route No. 154 between Lisbon and Elkton.

CALLS MEETING
OF LEGISLATURE
TO HELP BANKS

Governor White Proposes
Action To Preserve
Assets

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., May 5.—The Ohio legislature will hold another extraordinary session, this time to help the banks.

Governor George White called
the session for May 16 to amend
the state banking laws to permit
banks to borrow from the $200,000-000 fund of the federal reconstruction finance corporation.

The loans would permit the state
superintendent of banks to declare dividends for depositors and other creditors without sacrificing the assets of closed banks of liquidat-
ing them at present low appraisals.

In a ruling April 19, the finance corporation held that present Ohio
laws barred the state from sharing in the fund. Agitation for a special session of the legislature followed
and Governor White issued the call
late yesterday.

MASSIE LEAVES

Lieutenant Ordered To Duty In San Francisco District

OUTRIGHT PARDON
MOVE IS STARTED

Serve One Hour In Com-
mutation of Ten-
Year Terms

WASHINGTON, May 5. — The
navy department, on the recommendation of Rear Admiral Yates
Stirling, commander of the Hawaiian naval district, today ordered Lieutenant Thomas H. Massie to duty in the San Francisco naval district.

Seek Outright Pardon

HONOLULU, May 5.—A move
for an outright pardon for Mrs.
Granville Fortescue and three
naval men convicted of lynching
Joseph Kahahawai was pressed today after the quartet had fully satisfied the law by spending one hour
in custody of the territorial high sheriff.

Sentenced yesterday in a surprise
court session to ten years in prison
for manslaughter, they were immediately granted a commutation
of sentence to one hour by Governor Lawrence M. Judd.

With the case closed, the New York society woman was expected
to leave Hawaii soon to join her author husband in the east. Her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, and two enlisted men, Albert O.
Jones and E. J. Lord, will probably be transferred to other posts.

The governor's order also apparently paved the way to dropping
re-trial of the four surviving men
accused of assaulting Mrs. Thalia Massie last September.

Saves Navy Men's Records

The commutation also saved the navy men from having their service
records marred by imprisonment.

Harry Hewitt, attorney general,
said the commutation did not constitute a pardon and did not restore
to the four their civil rights. Clarence Darrow, veteran chief of defense counsel said he thought "federal action might be taken to restore them; we are satisfied."

In commuting the sentence,
Governor Judd announced he had acted upon the petition of the four defendants and their counsel asking executive clemency. The governor also made public a petition
bearing the names of 104 members
of congress asking an unconditional pardon for the four.

Real Estate Man's 80-Acre Estate Is Placed
Under Guard

PRIVATE SLEUTHS
CALLED ON CASE

Phone Call to Office Also Threatens Three Children

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, May 5.—An attempt to extort $25,000 from Elisworth H. Augustus, wealthy real estate man and nationally known
golf star, under penalty of death,
was revealed today. The 80-acre Augustus estate has been placed under a heavy guard.

Threatens Death

A letter demanding the money
and threatening death unless its
terms were complied with was received last Monday, Augustus said today. He was instructed to put the money on a fence post by a gate
at his estate.

Augustus said he turned the
note over to private detectives.

Since then detectives have trailed Augustus in his daily trips to his office and seven men were found
patrolling his estate today, refusing admittance to all strangers. His wife and children—Daneen, 9, Albert Anthony II, 7, and Elizabeth, 4, also were being guarded.

The note, written in pencil on a paper bag, said: "Leave $25,000 in paper money beside the gate in the fence along Hobart road in the southeast corner of your estate
Tuesday night between midnight
and 1 a. m. Do this—or you will die at our hands." It was signed
"Poof Puffers."

Threatened By Phone

Failure to meet the demand was followed yesterday by a telephone
call to Augustus' office by a man
who told a secretary:

"Tell Mr. Augustus that he didn't
'keep his word.' 'He'll get it for this—tell him that. If that isn't enough, we'll get his children, too.'
Augustus was busy on another telephone at the time. Preceding this call, a woman telephoned the Augustus home but hung up before he could answer.

Augustus, a former city golf
champion, has competed a number of national tournaments. He is a prominent real estate dealer. His father, the late Elbert Augustus,
was head of the Cambridge Collieries company, an Ohio
oil concern.

CONTROL OF CALIFORNIA

California's three-cornered contest for the Democratic presidential nomination ended with a victor in each corner.

Franklin D. Roosevelt showed the Democratic party that, though he is strong, he is not strong enough to ballyhoo as a new champion. He did not carry California, although he did beat Alfred E. Smith.

John Garner, speaker of the house of representatives, gained the judges' decision in the contest. His victory is intensely significant to California. It means that the alliance of William G. McAdoo's group with William Randolph Hearst is in control of the state. Mr. Garner's presidential candidacy has lost prestige more rapidly than it has gained as the result of disorder in the house of representatives.

The third contestant left standing on his feet is Alfred E. Smith, who fought well, if not well enough to win. He was plainly outclassed by no one, despite the fact that working against him were two powerful political groups—the Hearst-McAdoo and the Roosevelt groups. His own backing was weak, comparatively.

A Roosevelt victory in California would have had a tremendously favorable psychological effect. But victory was denied. As Al Smith said concerning his victory over Roosevelt in Massachusetts, "I guess that will put a check under the bandwagon." The vote in California was a critical test. The Roosevelt candidacy is definitely on the want as the result of his inability to carry states in which there was anything resembling an even contest. Ohio, meanwhile, is not forgetting Newton D. Baker, whose strength, as a possibility for the place Mr. Roosevelt is having so much difficulty attaining is being recognized more widely with each passing day of the state primary season.

WELFARE OF THE PEOPLE

It would be difficult to imagine a more distressing set of circumstances than would have resulted from a decision holding unconstitutional the bill giving Ohio counties the right to issue relief bonds to be retired from revenue derived from the added tax of gross earnings of public utilities. An important part of the purpose of the general assembly's legislative efforts in the recent special session would have been destroyed. Communities which have been grasping at straws in their desperation would be denied even that slight comfort. Ohio would have to admit that its officials were incapable of performing an emergency act.

In holding the law constitutional, Judge Thomas A. Jones of the state supreme court began his opinion with "The welfare of the people is the paramount law"—a simple sentence whose message all too frequently escapes the understanding of the public's servant. Never was there a case where the welfare of the people depended more directly on efficient action by the people's agency—the government of Ohio. It does not matter that the means by which communities have been enabled to raise funds for the relief of the needy are subject to criticism. The quickest method was chosen; there is no time to strive for perfection when life is hanging in the balance. As the last legal obstacle in the way of its relief program is cleared away, Ohio has reason to congratulate itself for the handling of a difficult situation.

Sweet is the only remedy Charles Schwab seeks for depression. But somebody must turn on the heat.—Toledo Blade.

There was once a man in congress who weighed 500 pounds. And now there are statesmen who think their thoughts are even weightier.—Boston Transcript.

OUR READERS

Welcome, New Voters

Editor, The News:
Going to the polls this year there will be a small army of first voters. There is a thrill of adventure in making one's first visit to the polls as a voter.
The writer well remembers her first vote. It was a sort of pioneer experience, it being the first vote granted to women in Ohio. I could vote only for members of the school board, but that was the first step towards full enfranchisement, which the women enjoy today, and I felt that if we made good use of that, we would the sooner be given more, so I made my way with my father over some Belmont county hills to the "Little Red School House," but to a white one, and voted for our district school board.

Assuming the responsibility of a voter is a charge which we have set upon us our 21st birthday and not to be regarded lightly. We have all heard politics taboed, but it is a trust that becomes an honor if rightly regarded. Politics is clean or not, as the people make it. If we elect clean, righteous stewards to the offices of our communities, of our state and our nation, there will be no reason for the church to say, "We must not play a part in politics."

So to the political fledglings of our community we give this greeting and may the political plane be made a little higher by the addition of our few hundred first voters and remember, every one who will be twenty-one on or before the election in November, may vote at the primaries on May 10.

MRS. ANNA STRATTON.

AN OPPORTUNITY

Editor, The News:
Last fall while in Arkansas our attention was called to a little crippled boy aged about twelve who had never been able to walk.

By using his hands as feet he managed to get around at home and school. He was unable to play like other boys and the future was not bright, as his parents were not blessed with much of this world's goods.

Recently we learned he was in a children's hospital in Little Rock and that within a few weeks they hope he can walk. He will always have to wear braces but that will be vastly better than not walking at all.

In a letter from him recently, he said after they "operated" again he would be able to walk. He expressed a desire to have a "getar" as he felt sure he could learn to play it while he was in the hospital.

Our object in telling this little story is to see if there is not someone in Salem who may have a guitar stored in their attic that they would be delighted to present to Herbert.

It would mean so much to him and we shall be very glad to see that it is forwarded to him if you will only let us know about it.

Sincerely,
ED F. STRATTON.

NEW YORK, May 5—New Yorkers a wayfarer sees after 3 a. m. suggest the inhabitants of another world. They seep into the cheap restaurants along Broadway and the Bowery, bucking themselves up with steaming black coffee and smoking cigarettes chain fashion.

They travel alone and conversation is in scanty jerks. Silence is the defense mechanism for cloaking an unhappy past. Amid the suspicious glances of the submerged they are perpetual John Does, clinging to the shadows and asking nothing but to be left alone.

Now and then there is a woman, hollow-eyed and frowny wrecks twitching from booze or drugs. In the manner of scavenging night birds of the jungle, they drift out after the metropolis is in its first dead sleep. Compared to the noisy pageantry of daylight, they seem so many wraiths.

Every phase of failure is represented—the drunkard, hophead, panhandler and bum. They turn night into day to hide from a society that has passed them by. How they live, no one knows. Yet some have carried on for years, dead to all ambition and hope, completely burnt out.

Among a few there is a pretense of seeking a job. After gulping their coffee until sunup, they shiver before the want ad. bulletin boards. But they merely stare and mosey off. They are the misfits that coil into the city's great economic question mark.

In the uglier alcoves of the Bowery, are those awaiting in fuzzy-eyed despair the eruption of night sleepers in upstairs lodging houses and cellar flops. Here they toss and often moan in the minor of an African chant until night comes and the business of living becomes starkly real again.

Sudden thought: In all the years of patronage I never discovered an Italian restaurant that didn't skimp with the meat sauce for spaghetti.

Celebrities incognito in New York resort to black glasses to dodge the curious. No simple device so deceptive. Garbo employed it on her winter visit and Colonel Lindbergh slips them on when leaving his auto to enter an office building. Strangely enough, too dark glasses create an alibi. Like a monk's hood.

Thomas Hardy, returning to England, reports that America offered only two great things—high buildings and Edna St. Vincent Millay. A set-back to many persons and things, including a fat snub for Niagara Falls.

A giant corporation, in throes of reorganization, is selecting executives from the fly-weights. It believes the keenest minds are among diminutive physically. The movie industry has often exploited "little guys." One of the most highly publicized in the studios is Irving Thalberg, who weighs 128 pounds. Adolph Zukor is undersized, as was the late Marcus Loew. Ernest Truex is a favorite star. The idea is worth watching. The world came a cropper with "big stiff" mainly at the helm.

One of the successful of the Rialto is a vivid gnome who tips the beam at 103. The great criminal lawyer, Max Stuer and the equally great international lawyer Col. Joe Hartfield, are abbreviated brilliants. Monsieur Chippa, of the Paris Perfumery, elongates himself with fairy heels. A. C. Blumenthal is a cowed, Louis Wilev, a cowering spirit of the New York Times, is less than four feet. And, of course, there are Aeson and Napoleon. Indeed, the list of rare goods in small packages could fill another column.

Oliver Herford's mobile viscomy is seen around The Players but he rarely ventures north of 14th street. In England he is regarded as America's foremost humorist—in the category with Mark Twain. In a wise-cracking age he stands out like the Empire in a bubble of mud-flats—last of the mid-Victorian wits and most accomplished.

Another pleasant chance in a neck-and-neck race is a sudden relief from the go-getter, who was in fashion during the boom. I refer to the breathless boys who relearned from investment houses. There was a vein of innocent candor about their fixation to let me in on good things. I was often sweet off my feet by their concentration to a noble impulse to make me rich. I was disillusioned to make me head out of the second floor wreckage and realize I was just another sucker running away with hook lines and sinker.

RULE BY THE MOB

The American people may be excused if they wonder whether the Democratic house of representatives is framing an economy bill or an expense bill. It is giving one of the worst exhibitions of mob government ever seen in the United States congress. Unfortunately, besides, in this case at least, the rules of the house, adopted some years ago, deprived conferees of the power to come to decisions of their own in many cases, and even should the senate—a bit wiser itself, also—write the tax and the economy bills in such a manner as to indicate reasonable intelligence, its proposals still must be submitted to mob vote in the house.

When any legislative body starts upon a program of overturning the work of its committees, it rapidly degenerates into a leaderless pack, and this is exactly what the house, with its powerful bi-partisan insurgent fringe, has done. It has supplied the most impressive lesson in the necessity of leadership and organization that could have been imagined, and has gone far toward stimulating a movement for more strict and responsible control of legislation, even at the sacrifice of some of the individual "rights" of members who have so abused them.

A Theodore Roosevelt in the White House might have gone to the country and hammered congress into some degree of malleability, although it is doubtful if even that great manipulator of men could have done much with the present individualists. The administration and the treasury department have presented to congress a series of carefully planned and well-informed measures. Congress has made a bad economic situation worse by ignoring them.—Boston Transcript.

Wrong Food May Give You Hives

Many of my readers have requested information about "urticaria," which is the medical name for "hives." Many call it "nettle-rash."

In this condition there is a rash, or an eruption of the skin, that consists of numerous small red spots. These enlarge and may become as big as a 50-cent piece. For untunately the rash usually lasts only for a few hours, but in severe cases it may be prolonged for a few days. The swellings disappear, but often reappear at definite times of the day. Any part of the skin may become affected. It is found in adults, but is more common in childhood than in later life.

For many years the cause of hives was not recognized. Now it is believed to be due to a sensitivity to certain substances. These substances are usually present in certain foods but may be found in clothes, homes and materials used in various occupations. The prevention and cure of the disease is easy when the cause is discovered and removed. Most sufferers from urticaria know that they are sensitive to certain foods. They have learned by unfortunate experiences. When they avoid these foods they do not suffer from hives. It is only when they are careless about eating that the rash appears. I have known many persons who were fond of sea food, but unfortunately, whenever they partook of this tempting food they "broke out" in a rash and suffered for many hours.

Relieving Inflammation
Sensitivity to clothes as a cause of hives is illustrated by the following story. A young woman suffered from hives and her attacks always occurred on Sundays. Though every effort was made to determine to what food she was sensitive, no relief was found. It was finally noted that on Sundays she wore a certain silk blouse and that her sensitivity to silk was the cause of the hives. When the silk garment was discarded her hives were cured.

In acute cases, where the itching and inflammation is very severe, relief can be obtained by applying a solution of hyposulphate of soda.

Disolve a tablespoonful in half a glass of water and apply to the inflamed skin. Where the rash involves the whole body, place a half pound of hyposulphite in a tub half full of water and bathe in that. These baths may be taken twice a day for a duration of 20 minutes.

Where relief cannot be obtained and the hives are persistent, it is wise to consult a doctor. In a very severe case it may be necessary to give a hypodermic injection of adrenalin. This can only be done under the supervision of a physician.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeanette Young Norton

All Greens Are Not Spinach

Green and succulent vegetables afford the best kind of spring tonic. That doesn't mean the grand annual compulsion to spinach, for while that vaudeville vegetable seems to pop to the fore whenever the word greens is mentioned, it is by no means the only wholesome greens. Lots of other greens are just as good as spinach in mineral and vitamin content and taste much better.

Dandelion, turnip tops, beet tops, chard, kale and mustard greens have not that pronounced metallic flavor which is both the value and the bone of spinach. Yet it must be said that it's just as much up to the cook as to the vegetable. If a little skill is used over the cook-stove, any of the greens, even spinach, can be transformed into a really enjoyable dish.

First and foremost, buy only greens that are bright, crisp and fresh. That means better flavor and less fuss over cleaning. Incidentally, beet tops are now sold separately by the pound, fresh, bright and immaculate.

Preparing Greens

Wash greens in loads of cold water—so much that the greens float and free themselves of sand and soil. Cook in a saucepan without adding water, depending on the drops that adhere to the leaves for the moisture needed.

Don't overcook. Test first for tenderness at the end of 20 minutes, and remove as soon as tender. Most greens cook in less than 40 minutes. Drain, although there shouldn't be much liquid; chop very fine, then reheat and season. The seasoning can be merely salt and pepper and the chopped greens may be reheated in a white sauce thickened with one or two egg yolks.

Any greens can be served as a soufflé. With each two cups of the cooked chopped greens mix a table-spoonful of flour and one-half cupful of milk, and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Then add the beaten yolks of three eggs, salt and pepper, and lastly the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a buttered casserole and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. Serve immediately.

With Sour Cream

Any of the greens are improved by cream—either thick, sweet cream, or sour cream. Beet greens particularly are delightful served with thickened sour cream, plus a teaspoon of lemon juice. It makes a peppy instead of a flat green vegetable, and a more agreeable accompaniment to meat or fish. To the cooked, drained and chopped greens add one or two egg yolks, heat in a double boiler, stirring constantly, and keep hot, but do not boil. Lastly fold in a few table-spoonfuls of thick sour cream and a dash of lemon juice.

Rice and How to Cook It

"How long should rice be cooked?" asks a housekeeper. "We like rice to be tender but dry, with separate grains, but not mushy. How do the Chinese prepare their rice?"

It depends on the kind of rice used. White rice will cook to tenderness in 20 minutes or a little longer. Brown rice takes about an hour. If white rice is used, pour the washed grains into plenty of boiling water—about eight times as much water as dry rice. Let boil very rapidly, without a cover. At the end of 20 minutes, or longer for a larger quantity of rice, pour into a colander and let hot or cold water run through. This will separate the grains by washing off the excess starch. Or simply place the drained rice in a colander and place over steam, or pile it in a hot baking dish and set in a warm oven.

Brown rice needs four times as much water as dry rice and is cooked the same way, except that it takes twice as long to cook it to tenderness.

This is the method of preparing rice when it is served as a separate vegetable. However, when rice is cooked with other foods of course it is not drained, but the starchy content acts as a thickening agent while cooking.

Rice Creole

1 cup uncooked rice
2 cups canned tomatoes
2 cups boiling water
1 large onion
2 large green peppers
1/2 cupful sliced olives
1/2 cupful sliced celery
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons butter

Place butter in a deep saucepan and when melted add the vegetables, sliced or chopped, and cook one minute, stirring well. Then add tomatoes and hot water and bring to a boil. Add the uncooked rice, reduce the heat slightly, and simmer about half an hour, or longer until rice is tender.

Cooked rice may be used in combination with an equal quantity of fish or meat to make an excellent luncheon or supper dish. Left-over ham, pork, smoked meat, chicken or lamb can be diced and added to hot cooked rice in a saucepan, stirred together and served as a one-piece meal. Shellfish such as scallops, shrimps, crab or lobster can also be prepared with rice in the same way.

A casserole can be prepared consisting of one layer of cooked rice and one layer of meat or fish chopped, with a top layer of buttered crumbs, baked in a hot oven.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

Sitting at Housework

"What I find hard about housework," said Clara, who has been keeping house only a few months, after years of work in an office, "is that it makes me stand up so much. That's a great change for me, because I used to sit at a desk eight hours a day, and I find standing up most of the day is a lot more tiring."

Simply Use Chairs

Doing so much housework in a tiring, standing position is just part of an old tradition that deserves to be chucked overboard, along with all the ancient tools that depended so much on elbow grease for good results. Standing up is more habit than necessity. With a little thought, every housekeeper could do most of her work in a comfortable sitting position.

Excellent housework chairs are now available. One new and very reasonably-priced is a kitchen high chair, with a back rest just at the right spot, and a foot rest. This chair makes it possible to sit in comfort while washing dishes, well elevated above the sink height.

A little stool that slips under the kitchen table costs only a few cents, yet it means all the difference between sitting comfortably, while preparing or mixing food, and standing up wearily.

Avoid Foot Trouble

And why should anyone stand while ironing? Inexpensive, adjustable ironing boards that can be folded to whatever height is desired make it possible to iron while one is sitting in an ordinary chair. Even washing can be done, and done well, while seated.

In fact, any household task that means staying in one spot for its duration can be performed in a sitting posture. If the kitchen is small, an old-fashioned swivel stool that can be made high or low, serves for sitting at either a low table or a high sink or washtub.

A lot of housewife's foot trouble could be avoided by the greater use of chairs in the kitchen.

To Clean Washable Gloves

Gloves, like hose, wear all the better if they are washed frequently. Frequent cleansing of slightly soiled gloves is better than occasional washing of badly soiled ones, for ingrained dirt does more to weaken the fabric than many washings.

Gloves are very easy to clean. Chamolix, doeskin and other gloves sold as washable can be slipped on the hands, then scoured with a brush dipped in lukewarm soap-suds. The brush should be firm, but not too stiff. A brush suitable for fingernails will be about right for gloves. The tips should receive special attention, for at crevices the grime works into the seams.

Gloves should receive the same treatment inside. After the outside is scrubbed and rinsed in clear lukewarm water, turn the gloves and scrub the inside with lukewarm soap-suds, then rinse again in clear lukewarm water.

Drying requires a bit of care. Roll the gloves first in a turkish towel to absorb excess moisture, then blow into each glove to get the fingers well separated and stuff the whole glove with tissue paper. This gives shape to the drying and prevents contact between colored stitching and any plain part of the glove that might otherwise become discolored.

Gloves should dry in mild heat, not near a stove or radiator, and not outdoors if it is cold. A towel

Communism — Taxes

Do you believe in the confiscation of property? Are you in favor of Communism? Are you ready to turn your home or farm over to the county in payment for taxes? Do you want to drive our manufacturers and business concerns out of our county where taxes are lower? If not, investigate! Nominate and elect office those who favor cutting down the cost of government.

James E. Galbreath, one of the Republican candidates for County Commissioner, is leading the fight for lower taxes. He is honest and sincere. He does not mince words to avoid the issue or in order to secure votes. You know where he stands. He says that it is now time to call a halt to waste and extravagance in spending public money. Some do not agree with him. Some believe in the boosting of taxes and the payment of higher salaries. Mr. Galbreath says that the unemployed need not expect employment until the farmers, the manufacturers and the business men are relieved of over-taxation and are given an opportunity to use their own money. Why pay so much for public improvements and neglect our home improvements?

If you desire to cut down the cost of government—

Budget Estimates Cut

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Slashed by many millions under President Hoover's budget estimates, the last of the big regular supply bills for 1933—that for the war department—was reported to the house today by its appropriation committee.

Cutting 2,000 officers off the active list and making other sweeping reductions, the measure carries $386,983,000 for maintenance of the army and its non-military activities. It is $58,789,000 below current appropriations and $24,280,000 less than the budget estimates.

The reduction brings to $169,000,000 the amount deducted by the Democratic controlled committee from President Hoover's requests for funds for the maintenance of the federal government in 1933.

Only the second deficiency appropriation bill remains to be presented before congress adjourns.

ON THE DESERT you may see the deadly poisonous female scorpion wandering, with her young ones clinging to her back. While slowly devouring their mother's body, leaving only an empty shell, they occasionally drop off, return and climb on again.

The female scorpion is the forerunner of the giant dirigible Akron. That great ship, which would prove very "poisonous" in war, sails around carrying small flying machines called "spider" planes, stowed away in a hangar inside the ship.

On Tuesday Lieutenants Harrigan and Young flew from the mother ship in these little planes and flew back again, "hooked on" and repeated the operation 15 times.

Such a dirigible, carrying a group of "spider" bombing planes within striking distance of an enemy city, might make itself disagreeable.

REPRESENTATIVE RAINEY of Illinois, says the government will not print money to pay the soldiers' bonus, and all organized finance badly frightened just now, but still influential, says the same.

Probably the soldiers won't get their bonus, but you cannot help thinking of these things. The soldiers alone could have distributed that money immediately in every corner of the United States. There is no other way of accomplishing that, no other way to start buying all over the country.

The government owes $2,000,000,000 to the soldiers, will have to pay it some day with interest at 4 per cent.

By printing the money and letting the soldiers have it when they need it most, the government would save $80,000,000 a year in interest.

NEW YORK'S building strike is growing, 40,000 skilled men added to the city's unemployed, which is unfortunate.

Employers want to pay their men only $10 a day. Bricklayers demand $25.00 an hour or $20.48 for eight hours. The more the workers make, the more they have to spend and the greater prosperity, within reason.

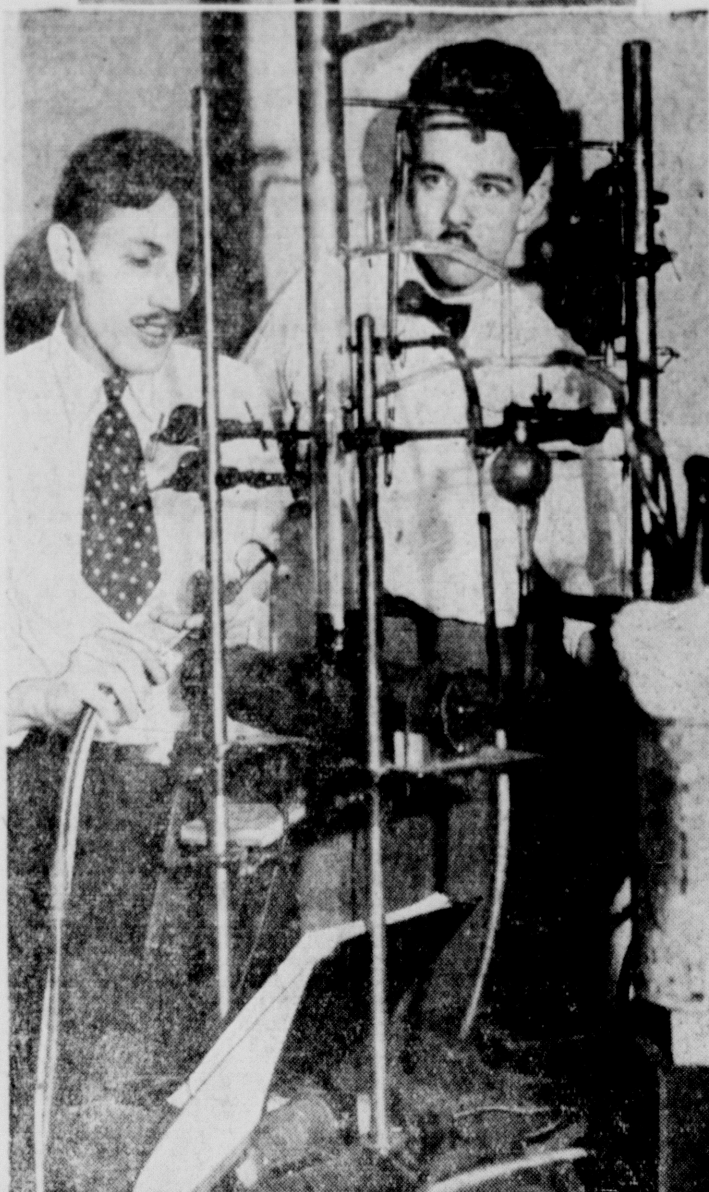

This time of unemployment, however, would seem to be a good time for arbitration.

A CURIOUS country is Mexico and puzzling to Uncle Sam. They make laws there, and then obey the laws. Because of one law increasing the taxes on Mexican liquor, saloons are closing all along the border.

An American racketeer crossed the border from California to Mexico to enjoy himself, taking his bodyguard, had an argument with a Mexican citizen, and instructed his bodyguard to "do his stuff". The bodyguard replied "not here, we are in Mexico. After we get back across the border, anything you say. Too dangerous here."

Coast Guard Halts Alleged Rum Craft

(By Associated Press)

NEW LONDON, Conn., May 5.—The 60-foot speed boat Scipio of Bridgeport, an alleged rum runner, was captured off Fisher's Island after one of her crew had been wounded severely by a machine gun bullet from a coast guard boat.

The wounded man, known only as Charlie, was shot in the head. He probably will die.

Coast guardsmen, who brought the Scipio to New London early today, said she carried 400 cases of liquor. Besides the wounded man, who was the boat's engineer, the crew consisted of Capt. Joseph Knowles of New Bedford, Mass.; Thomas A. Stone of Fairfield, Conn.; and John White of Bridgeport.

Officials said the service vessel resorted to machine gun fire after the Scipio has ignored several warning shots from a one pounder.

Eight Planes Are Destroyed In Fire

(By Associated Press)

DAYTON, O., May 5.—Eight airplanes and a hangar at the United States army post here were destroyed by fire last night with a loss estimated at $100,000. An explosion believed by officers to have been of gasoline preceded the blaze.

The blast tore down one wall of the hangar and eight men narrowly escaped injury.

Post officials began an investigation today, although they held to a theory that the blast came from gasoline in a storage tank, detonated by a spark from one of the airplane motors.

Service fire departments from the Patterson and Wright flying fields, battled the blaze several hours before it was controlled.

Eight planes were old models, stored in the hangar some distance from the other buildings.

Students Protest Action By Board

(By Associated Press)

MINNEAPOLIS, May 5.—War may be all Sherman said it was but take it from Samuel R. Van Sant, Minnesota's oldest living former governor, he would rather take his chances as a soldier than as a pedestrian.

The 88-year-old Civil war veteran and G. A. R. commander, recovering from injuries suffered when an automobile knocked him down as he stepped from the curb, expressed a mild doubt today about the comparative damage done by war and traffic.

"You can't kill a Civil war veteran," he jested, "but let me tell you something else. These automobiles are all right if you are riding in one, but they take these inside turns too fast for most of us pedestrians."

He escaped unscathed in the Civil war but has been involved in four accidents, his last being the most serious. His injuries were a slight skull fracture and many bruises, and both his eyes were blackened.

bon and Gavers, commonly known as the Hephner Hollow route, this narrow brick section being one of the first improved highways built in the county. This same road north of Lisbon, beginning at the "Flatiron" and extending toward Columbiana is also to be resurfaced. Widening of that section of State Route 45 between Glasgow and Wellsville will also be done this season, and, likewise, that section of the same highway from Glasgow northward to West Point.

County Surveyor Kirk declared today that "it is the plan of the state highway department, within the next five years, to have every road in the county that is now on the state highway system, built to a width of not less than 20 feet, using their traffic count survey in the determination of which highway is to be the first completed. State Route 14 between Unity and Salem is declared to be the heaviest traveled highway in the county, with U. S. Route No. 30 next.

Cost Will Be $1,500,000

It will cost approximately $1,500,000 to complete this program, but none of this money will be obtained from property tax or special assessments. The funds are derived through federal aid and from gas tax monies collected by the state.

The ordinary Federal appropriation for federal aid roads is approximately $75,000,000, and Ohio will participate in this fund to the extent of about $3,600,000.

Improvement of the Lincoln highway between Hanover and Kensington was started this week.

Rejected Suitor Dies From Poison

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT, May 5.—Miss Nora Daniels, 18, considered it a dramatic gesture and nothing more when Burton Roberts, her 20-year-old suitor, drained a bottle of what he said was poison after she had refused to marry him.

They walked on together for five blocks in suburban Lincoln Park. Then Roberts fell to the sidewalk. Police took the youth to the home of a physician, who pronounced him dead.

SCULPTOR SAYS WRITER'S CRAZY

Unleashes wrathful words
Against Hergeshimer's
Criticism

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 5.—Gutzon Borglum, sculptor of Phil Sheridan at Gettysburg, today said wrathful words about Joseph Hergeshimer's recent book which terms the general's famous Civil war ride a mere walk. "It's crazy," said the carver of mountains, "there's no particle of truth in any discount of the drama of that ride. But it's very fashionable among authors to discredit well-known events in the lives of great men."

A brilliant bronze of Sheridan done by Borglum years ago, stands in a circle on fashionable Massachusetts avenue. It portrays the general tearing along from Winchester to the battle of Cedar Creek on October 19, 1863. Sheridan's son, then aide to President Roosevelt, posed for it. The general's widow looks down on that statue from her window.

By Hergeshimer's version the statue is historically wrong; the ride itself was of minor importance and executed at a walk with many halts—far different from the rallying picturesqueness of the familiar school-room story. The famous Sheridan quotation: "We sleep in our tents tonight, or we sleep in hell!" also is denied by the writer. Borglum disputed every word of it, insisted that while executing the statue he had at his elbow an eyewitness of the ride, the late Colonel Whitman, commissary general to Sheridan, and went through all the data.

"I am very careful to ascertain the truth about the men whose monuments I build," snorted the sculptor.

Woman Aids Pilot In Defense Plans

MIAMI, FLA., May 5.—Jessie M. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix, has joined in planning a defense for Captain W. N. Lancaster, her British flying partner in the event he is indicted for murder of her fiancé, Haden Clarke.

"Everything brought out in the case has made Bill (Lancaster) look badly," the woman flier said yesterday as she worked with Lancaster's attorney on preliminary defense plans. "There are a thousand things to be brought out in fairness to him that are yet undisclosed." The grand jurors concluded their inquiry into Clarke's shooting yesterday but probably will make no report before Saturday or Monday.

Both Lancaster and Mrs. Keith-Miller maintain Clarke shot himself, although Lancaster admitted writing two suicide notes attributed to Clarke to divert suspicion. Mrs. Keith-Miller has been exonerated by the state attorney. Lancaster is being held in jail.

The Stars Say—

For Friday, May 6

An active, progressive and pleasant day, with probably changes enhancing all these is read from the dominating aspects of the moon. The energies and faculties will be under good impetus to initiative and adventure and openings for these may come under the urge of Uranus. It is an auspicious time to renew projects and for all manner of writings or publishing. Good news and helpful strangers are also to be counted upon.

If It's Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a progressive, pleasant and energetic year, with the faculties and forces working fine stimulus to initiative. There may be travel, change or interesting adventures with the contacts of strangers who will benefit or advance projects. Writings, publications, contracts and trade should flourish. A child born on this day should be versatile, skillful, original in thought and action. It should have a happy and successful career, marrying young.

Testimonials for Lloyd C. Kirk

Mr. Kirk has served as State Highway Resident Engineer in Columbiana County for several years, including the years of 1929-30 when the writer served as Director of Highways. I have always found Mr. Kirk capable, honest and efficient in looking after the State's interest in road building matters assigned to him. He has the reputation of securing good work on the various projects in this county and it has been a satisfaction to the administering officials to be so ably represented in Columbiana County.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT N. WAID.
Mr. Waid served as State Highway Director under Gov. Myers V. Cooper.

During my incumbency as Director of Highways, I considered Mr. Kirk one of the most capable resident engineers and county surveyors in the state of Ohio.

The fact that he has been retained as resident engineer under both a Democratic and Republican administration should be evidence of the fact that he is highly capable. In discussing his ability with those who are much more familiar with his work than I am, I find that he enjoys a first class reputation.

Yours very truly,
L. A. BOULAY
Mr. Boulay served as State Highway Director under Gov. Vic Donahey. (Pol. Advt.)

Capone Checks Flashy Togs, Becomes No. 40,886 in Pen

(By Associated Press)
ATLANTA, May 5.—"Seafarer Al" Capone began a new life today as convict No. 40,886 in the Atlanta Federal penitentiary.

The Chicago gang leader was just one of 3,100, as he was put through examinations to see where he would fit into the prison microcosm.

Lost to World
Capone stepped into the prison office last night and as far as the public was concerned, he might have been stepping from the face of the earth for a period of about seven and a half years, long enough for the notoriety of a Capone to become dim.

As Capone began serving his eleven-year sentence for income tax evasion his story became the story of all the other prisoners. It starts with first call at 4:40 a.m. in the morning and ends with "lights out" at 9 p.m. It includes meals at about 22 cents per prisoner per day, work in the various prison shops or at odd jobs, and possibly an evening's entertainment of moving pictures, boxing or amateur theatricals.

Checks Flashy Clothing
Capone checked in in flashy and expensive clothing and was given a uniform of cotton shirt, trousers and jacket, all grayish blue. He must submit to a prison haircut and remain in quarantine for three or four weeks.

He can expect an assignment at the end of that period to either the laundry or the tailor shop. If he behaves himself and shows ability, he can look forward to a clerical job or work in the library with opportunities for study and reading.

News From Court House

In Common Pleas

Claiming there is $100 due him as reward on gas seized in Fairfield township, F. Troy Cope has filed an action in common pleas court against Mead and Joseph Canfield, and with the petition an affidavit in attachment has been annexed. The petition for the plaintiff has been placed on the record by Metzger, McCarthy & McCookhill.

In the case of W. J. Salen against Fred W. Rohrbaugh and others, to marshal liens and sell real estate, the action has been dismissed with costs paid and no further record appended.

There was a trial to the court in the foreclosure action filed by the Farmers & Merchants Banking Co. against Clarence E. Eagleton and others, and a judgment has been entered in favor of the plaintiff for $5,192.46 and costs. A decree foreclosing a mortgage and an order of sale has been entered by Judge W. F. Lones.

A former decree has been modified by the court in the partition action filed by Maude A. Rohrbaugh against Fred W. Rohrbaugh and others.

Suit Is Dismissed

In the damage action filed by Dane Grafton against Virgil E. McEldowney and Charles Bailey, there has been a dismissal of the suit as relating to the defendant Bailey.

A decree for the plaintiff has been entered in the suit filed by W. E. Warren against Agnes Strawhecker and others. This action was filed Feb. 13, 1931 for the purpose of having a deed set aside, the sale of property and a distribution of proceeds.

Cited For Contempt

John E. Gillis, defendant in a divorce action filed against him by his wife, Marie E. Gillis, has been cited by Judge Lones to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court. April 4 last, the court ordered Gillis to pay his wife $50 as counsel fees and in addition $5 weekly for support during the pendency of the action and further order of court.

Without the aid of knife, drug, or metal arch supports, he will be able to give you immediate results for practically any kind of foot trouble, including many cases of ankle and knee trouble. The Doctor will be able to take care of a limited number of patients the two days in my office; therefore I advise you to make your appointment as early as possible. All cases are taken care of privately and there will be no charge for examination.

Vote for Ingalls for Governor

As Governor of Ohio, David S. Ingalls proposes to cut state government costs at least $6,500,000 in 1933. Instead of new ways to raise tax revenue, he contends both expenditures and taxes must be reduced. Ingalls offers a specific economy program.

Not being hampered by an expensive accumulation of political obligations, his pledges will be fulfilled.

His brilliant war service, outstanding as it is, is no more noteworthy than his service as a lawyer, legislator and Assistant Secretary of the Navy.

Under his administration as Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Aeronautics, the 5-year naval air program was completed in 4 years, at a saving of $23,000,000 under the estimated cost.

He does not straddle on the prohibition question. He says "the real question is simply—do you think the present prohibition law is perfect and should be retained or should it be changed? Personally, I believe it should be changed."

His straight-forwardness has won the admiration even of those who have a different view.

The nomination of Ingalls at the Republican Primary on May 10th means victory for the party in the November election. With Ingalls at the head, the entire ticket will be given its maximum strength.

TODAY'S RADIO PROGRAMS

Further evidence that the networks are going to lean heavily upon humor comes in today's announcement that Cliff Edwards, the "Ukulele Ike" of vaudeville, gets a place on WEAF-NBC for his strumming, accompanied by Verbal Pat-ter. He starts May 17.

Besides, there are indications that Blossom Seely and Benny Fields, also of vaudeville, have just about concluded arrangements to send their songs and comedy out over NBC.

A Noisy Lesson for Cadets

A picturesque view of one of the U. S. Army's 16-inch barbette guns being fired at the Aberdeen, Md., proving grounds for the education of the annual detachment of West Point Cadets that goes there for practical experience in gunnery. Cadets are shown watching, with ears covered to prevent shock to their eardrums. The lesson was of great interest to the future leaders of Uncle Sam's armies.

PEMBROKE, Mass.—The herring runs present annual spring spectacles in several Massachusetts
communities, among them Pembroke. Herring no longer is popular as food, but Pembroke and some other communities still maintain their fisheries because herring

serves as food for edible fish and
as bait.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in
the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world
looks pink, don't swallow a lot of salts,
mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly
feel "up and up." They contain no liver
bile and don't do it. They only move the
bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at
the cause. The reason for your down-and-out
feeling is your liver. It should pour out two
pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

For they can't do it. They only move the
bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at
the cause. The reason for your down-and-out
feeling is your liver. It should pour out two
pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food
doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels.
Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul,
skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes this good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you
feel "up and up." They contain no liver
bile and don't do it. They only move the
bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at
the cause. The reason for your down-and-out
feeling is your liver. It should pour out two
pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a

CARSON CITY, Nev. — Trans-

Japanese Troops To Be Withdrawn

SHANGHAI, CHINA, May 5.— Japanese military authorities announced tonight that they had ordered their troops to begin a withdrawal from the positions they now occupy into the international settlement and the adjacent areas.

It was the first step in carrying out an armistice signed this morning
to put an end to the hostilities
between China and Japan, which have been going on in the Shanghai
sector since January.

The armistice, a compromise arrangement which grew out of weeks
of negotiations, was signed by Japan's representatives in the hospital where they are recovering
from wounds inflicted by an assassin last week. The Chinese spokesman signed at his home and
the representatives of the neutral
powers affixed their signatures at the British embassy.

Racketeers Attempt To Defraud Edison

PHILADELPHIA, May 5.—Authorities were reported to be investigating today an attempt by Philadelphia racketeers to "shake down"
William L. Edison, son of the late Thomas A. Edison, for $50,000.
The extortion was said to have been attempted by a threat to hinder Edison in his marketing of an invention called the "Edistadt" to eliminate static from radio sets.
The Philadelphia Record, which
published the report, said Edison
conferred with authorities last Monday over the situation.

A Happy Movie Family

Two of the most beautiful and popular sisters of stage and screen, Joan
and Gene Marry are shown with their husbands, Gene Marry and the Marquis de la Palaise respectively, as they attended the premiere of "Grand Hotel" at one of Hollywood's palatial cinema

THEATER Attractions

"GIRL CRAZY" with a fine cast
of all star comedy performers plays
today at the State. Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey are the stars
and do their usual inimitable comedy. They are supported by Eddie Culligan, Dorothy Lee, Arlene Judge,
Kitty Kelley and Stanley Fields.

This funny yarn tells us of a young man who is sent to a dude ranch because he is girl crazy. It is an uproarious satire of the west
with music and songs. George Gershwin music is very prominent in this production.

COMING ATTRACTIONS show
"Are You Listening?" with one of the finest casts yet assembled for a talkie picture, at the State Friday
and Saturday.

William Haines, playing the lead,
reveals an entirely new personality.
Gone are his smart cracks and
comedy mannerisms, for in this picture he has an intensely serious
role and, without question, he makes the most of it. Madge Evans,
last seen in "Lovers Courageous,"
plays opposite Haines, and the cast
also features Anita Page, Karen Morley, Neil Hamilton, Wallace
Ford, Jean Hersholt and Joan Marsh.

The story concerns three small-
town girls who come to New York
to find an outlet for their respective talents in the radio world.
Their separate careers become increasingly entangled when one of them falls in love with a radio continuity writer who is unhappily
married to a nagging wife who refuses to grant him a divorce.

The outcome of this triangle and
its effects on the other persons concerned result in a dramatic situation of engrossing interest.

TALKIE RAMBLINGS

TALLULAH BANKHEAD will be supported by Gary Cooper in her next picture, "The Devil and the Deep."

Cooper spent the winter in Africa, doing considerable big game
hunting, while Miss Bankhead came to Hollywood to make her first picture at the western Paramount studios.

Another actor signed for "The Devil and the Deep" is Charles Laughton, who recently starred on Broadway in "Payment Deferred."
He's an English actor and will make his film debut in the picture
here.

HOLLYWOOD is the only town
in the civilized world where you might expect to hear of a man organizing a 100-piece tom-tom as a noise maker.
He decided 50 tom-toms wouldn't be enough to provide the necessary boom-booms for "Bird of Paradise." With 103 beating in barbaric rhythm, Steiner promised audiences a new kind of thrill.

Wynne Gibson lost five pounds while making "The Strange Case of Clara Deane." Poundage melted away under
the heat of powerful studio
lights until she tipped the scales at 93 pounds ringside.

Normally she weighs 103.

FRANCES DEE, one of the young actresses who has made good in a big way, has signed a new contract
with Paramount after being assigned to the leading feminine role
in "Merton of the Talksies."

She has been with Paramount
for more than a year, and has played in "An American Tragedy,"
"Rich Man's Folly," "This Reckless Age," and "The Strange Case of Clara Deane." In each picture she was given a more important part
than she had in the one preceding.

THE DAY IN SPORTS

SARAZEN LEADS GOLFERS
GROSSES $7,859 IN PRIZES

GENE SARAZEN of Fresh Meadows, N. Y., was the high money winner during the winter golf campaign according to figures compiled by Bob Harlow, retiring tournament manager of the Professional Golfers' association.

Sarazen grossed $7,859, followed by Fred Morrison of California, who won the Agua Caliente tournament, with $5,708, and Harry Cooper of Chicago, who garnered $3,896.

Sixteen tournaments were held from Dec. 1 to April 1 with $83,000 distributed in prize money, only $5,000 less than was distributed in 1931. The Agua Caliente tournament was reduced from $25,000 to $15,000 and the $15,000 La Gorce tournament was called off entirely.

One hundred and thirty-two professionals participated in the money winning, with 25 of them annexing $1,000 or more.

The 12 leading money winners follow:

Gene Sarazen	$7,859
Fred Morrison	5,708
Harry Cooper	3,896
Paul Runyan	3,523
Wiffy Cox	3,517
John Golden	2,933
Olin Dutra	2,540
Walter Hagen	2,480
Joe Kirkwood	2,407
Johnny Farrell	2,150
MacDonald Smith	2,000
Ralph Guldahl	2,017

Billie Burke, the national open champion, was 16th with $1,785.

Among the prominent professionals who finished near the bottom were Bobby Cruickshank with $18, Mortie Dutra with $204, Al Espinosa with $360, Mike Turnesa with $400 and Abe Espinosa with $843.

A banner emblematic of the grade school basketball championship of Salem was presented to Prospect school Wednesday by Joe M. Kelley. In a few years the same championship team, we hope, will be represented with players on Salem High's varsity squad.

THE REAPPOINTMENT of the Salem High school coaching staff returns to the Quaker school next year the trio who have been in charge of the development of championship teams here for the past two years.

Coach Floyd W. Stone will be serving his fifth year in Salem while his assistants, Franklin P. Lewis and Ray B. Clarke are now serving their second term. Stone's accomplishments as mentor in football, basketball and track are too well known for repetition in this column. Fans welcome his return.

Lewis has been a big asset to Stone in coaching of the three sports while Clarke, an old country coach. In this sport he has a perfect record—both his 1930 and 1931 teams won the state championship.

When last week's night relay carnival was held several former Salem residents were among the 1,500 fans present. There was Douglas Vivian, head physical instructor at Shaw High of Cleveland, also G. W. Dickerson, basketball and track coach at Sharon, Pa., and H. Parker Lowell, Akron columnist.

Vivian was head coach at Salem High for years while Dickerson occupied the same position before "Doug" incidentally both have attained great fame at both schools.

Mushball fans should all make it a point to take along a few nickels and dimes to "chip in" when the hat is passed at league games. A. Earl Beardmore, O. P. partisans, Mayor J. M. Davidson and Joe Reese are the official "hat-passers" and it will be passed every night... contributions from one penny to use your own judgment... are accepted.

That popular indoor sport... bridge... attracts many to Salem Friday night... it competes with that popular outdoor sport... track... the Big Ten meet is at Reilly stadium.

CHARLES CAREY POST WINS 2ND STRAIGHT GAME

Home Run by Kelley Aids In Victory; England Winning Hurler

Thompson, Shinn hit hard As China, Veterans Drop Verdicts

Charles H. Carey post No. 56, American Legion should rank right among the best of Salem Softball league teams when percentages are tabulated at the close of the first half race if they finish as strongly as they have started.

The veterans pulled an early season surprise Wednesday evening when they upset the touted Salem China company aggregation, 4-1, in a battle that was featured by good pitching by England and a home run socked by Joe Kelley in the fifth inning.

Legionnaires played good ball and connected for nine safeties off the delivery of Arthur Shinn. It was the post's second straight win of the week, an 8-7 verdict having been won off the Cox Studios Monday.

Legion sluggers tallied two runs in the third. Then, in the fifth, Kelley clinched the victory with a circuit clout that scored George Emery ahead of him.

V. F. W. Defeated

The other peace-time war unit, Allen Reynolds post No. 892, Veterans of Foreign Wars, didn't fare as well as its brother organization, dropping a 0-3 decision to John Brown's Service Station outfit.

McNamee held the Vets safe all the way, allowing but three hits while Thompson was hit hard with hits being bunched for runs in the first, third and fourth frames. Glenn Oesch swatted a home run.

No games are booked in the league today. Lineups:

South-Bound—Not for Derby

Certainly you recognize "Twenty Grand," the champion of last year's three-year-olds and winner of the 1931 Kentucky Derby. He is shown on his way to Kentucky, but not to repeat his triumph in the Blue Grass classic. The horse is bound for Mrs. Payne Whitney's farm where he will spend the next few years helping to breed future Derby winners. After that, the great racer will remain in retirement with the memories of his great victories.

CHAPTER 32

It took Lily Lou just five years to reach her goal, the Metropolitan. Five years from the time she came to New York, a frightened, but determined girl.

After the concert trip with Madame Nahlman it was comparatively easy sailing. There was the matter of "the hole" in Nahlman's voice. To cover it, Lily Lou was allowed to join in two numbers, singing a high, flute-like obligato to one, a lower, crooning melody to the other.

When she got too much applause Nahlman would fly into a tantrum, threaten to get a more competent accompanist, and there would be uncomfortable hours. But few audiences noticed Lily Lou particularly. They had come to hear Nahlman, and old and tired as she was, with a "hole" in her middle register, she gave them the fire and thrill of an enthusiasm that would never die. Beside the glowing, exuberant personality of the ageing prima donna, the accompanist was just a pretty, promising young girl.

In Opera

Well—Lily Lou didn't care. Not while she was earning two hundred and expenses every week and the bubble was rosy and blooming, waiting for her in New York.

After that there was Toscani Opera company, a third-rate company that played what Tony called "tank towns and beerhalls." He got her into it when it became evident that her absence with Nahlman had cost her the small parts she had been promised at the Metropolitan.

She wasn't very grateful. She would have preferred to stay in New York, and be with the baby. She never knew that Tony spent half a year's salary buying the place for her. The Toscani Opera company did not pay its sopranos. It allowed them to pay. And Tony never knew that she had to put down an additional fifteen hundred for costumes.

Uncle Eph's estate.... that meant the curly grayish wool sheep that used to graze on Lone Mountain.... dear, darling Uncle Eph.... paid for eight hundred of it. She scraped up the rest.

Steady Employment

It wasn't a very successful season. Toscani did little more than break even. She was mad with joy to get back to Robin—too big to be called bubble now—beginning to totter around on his little fat legs, and to say things that nobody but she and Tina, the nurse, could understand.

But she went back for another season, and when at the end of two years touring Toscani disbanded the company and retired to eat spaghetti and polenta in a cozy flat on a Hundred and Twenty-second street, she had sung fourteen stellar roles and felt like a trooper. It should have been easy to crash the gates of the Metropolitan now, but somehow, it wasn't just the chorus, and a few minor parts which she sang with charm and delicacy, of which nobody took any notice. Thanks to Tony, who was creating something of a sensation since he had been made one of the conductors, she had no difficulty in getting well paid engagements. She sang with a symphony orchestra in a tour of the southern states, then a season with a fashionable Fifth Avenue church, and then signed for four weeks at a moving picture theater up town.

An Artist

Nobody—Tony least of all—had expected her success at the theater! It had been a lucky chance for her to make some money. The applause frightened as well as surprised her. Her mind had been set on opera.... had she been wrong? Should she have worked for oratorio, lieder songs? Or was she hoping for too much, and was she just a cheap singer of popular ballads?

Some of this she confided to Tony. He shook his head. "No, he said, 'you are an artist, Lily, and when the artist sings, or plays, the world listens. It does not matter where. Was I not a success at the Roxie? No artists should really think himself good until he has made a living on the corner, passing the hat.'"

"I almost came to that, when I was new in New York!"

"And I did. And when I played my fiddle the people, they stood to listen. They didn't like it as much as when they pay, because the people, they like to pay big prices for what the like, but they listened, and they put to pennies, the fives and the ten-cent pieces, sometimes the quarters in my hat!"

At a Night Club

After the theater engagement she signed a contract to sing at one of the more fashionable night clubs, because it was late enough not to interfere with her opera appearances.

Taking a leaf out of Nahlman's notebook, she capitalized a dramatic entrance. The first number was always something showy and spectacular. She wore a white lace gown with lacquer red slippers, and the ermine wrap lined with liquor red chiffon that Madame Nahlman had given her three years ago.

After the first number she threw aside the wrap, and the grand opera manner, put the paste and ruby tiara, another relic of Nahlman's generosity, on the piano, slipped off her bracelets which she wore, again after the style of Nahlman, and banked nearly to her elbows, and motioning the pianist away, sat down and played her own accompaniment to one of the ballads she had sung at the moving picture theater. After that she asked if there was anything anyone wanted particularly—any old song—any opera aria? The old trick of memory. The gift of playing and singing by ear if need be.

Another Success

It was a success. An overwhelming and instantaneous success. Columnists mentioned her in the metropolitan dailies. Two of the better magazines had full page portraits of her. Lily Lou Lansing, who just opens her mouth and sings.... anything.... anywhere.... anytime....

"You'll ruin your voice, you damn fool!" Gwin wired her from Long Island.

"No you won't" Tony said, "not while you keep your voice forward, and don't force it."

And after that it was easy, so easy that it never again seemed hard.

She was singing in the chorus of Madame Butterfly. In the second act, Rosa de Rocco, who was singing the title role in spite of a serious throat affliction, found herself unable to continue. They hustled Lily Lou into the costume, told her she'd have to go on.

She waited, cold and a little weary, in the wings, while the announcement was made. Heard the subdued banging of seats, the little indignant murmur of the disappointed, who were leaving....

Success! Success!

"They're all leaving, down front," somebody said.

That would have unnerved her a year ago. It did not matter so much now. This was her chance, her big opportunity, and the audience was walking out before she started. It would have mattered frightfully, once. But she was used to disappointment now, and there was nobody left but Tony to care. Her mother gone.... Ken.... Ken, who was to have come to the end of the world to see her make her debut, gone, God only knew where....

Almost from the first she knew that the audience—what was left of it—was with her. She didn't have to throw herself into the part, she WAS Butterfly, waiting, believing, despairing, giving up at last....

"Brava!" someone shouted from the gallery.

"Success! Success!" Tony was on the stage, embracing her almost before the curtain fell.

Mother Always Understands When You

"Say It with Flowers"

For Flowers Are What She Expects

IF YOUR thoughts could drift back far enough—you could see a tiny baby that today is you. You would see a MOTHER, willing to do anything for that baby—that MOTHER is your Mother—then you'd see a larger child—and a Mother—you'd see her slowly modeling him into a boy—her BOY—and into a man—the man you are today!

Does she know how much her love still means to you? If so you needn't regret growing up—let her know you remember and tell her with flowers, for only flowers will tell her of your love.

If she isn't living—remember her by placing them on her grave. If she lives in a distant city—wire flowers, and teach your child to think of his mother—on her day, for MOTHER is the greatest gift God gave to man.

OIL SUBSTITUTION

CAUSES HOST OF MOTOR TROUBLES

Leading Oil Dealers of Salem Now Join Forces with Pennzoil Company to Fight "Bootleg" Oils

Smashed connecting rods, broken crankshaft, "frozen" pistons, scored cylinders! Inferior, substitute oils can cause any of these troubles—and a host of others. Any one of them means a big repair bill. Any one of them may mean a serious accident.

The dealer who substitutes a thin, "bootleg" oil for a good oil exposes you to these dangers. Without your knowing it, he robs you of the very protection you pay him for.

Now—leading dealers in this city guarantee to protect you against oil substitution. These dealers are men of integrity and good standing, men proud of their fair dealing. For their own protection as well as yours, they have joined forces with The Pennzoil Company to put an end to the substitution evil. They have signed an agreement that when you ask for Pennzoil you will get pure Pennzoil and nothing else. And to back up that agreement each of them has posted a $1,000 bond!

You can identify these dealers by the "Bonded Pennzoil Dealer" sign. Every dealer who displays it sells tough-film Pennzoil, the safest lubrication you can buy at any price. Pennzoil is made from the highest grade Pennsylvania crude and nothing else, double refined by a special process. This process doubles its toughness, doubles its resistance to heat and friction. Pennzoil improves motor performance and increases power. It's guaranteed to run hundreds of miles longer between fillings than ordinary oils.

Turn in at a "Bonded Pennzoil Dealer" sign whenever you need oil or gas. It's the surest way to protect your motor from the dangers of oil substitution. The dealer who displays this sign will always give you what you pay for!

Only reliable dealers display the black and yellow "Bonded Pennzoil Dealer" sign . . . Look for it when buying oil or gas

Many Bonded Pennzoil Dealers also handle Pennzip, the spectacular green anti-knock gasoline. Users report 15% more mileage from Pennzip—yet it costs no more than ordinary gasoline. There's nothing better—except Pennzip Ethyl.
